Basic informationDescriptionOrder, delivery and payment

The drug Entekor belongs to the inhibitory type of anti-inflammatory drugs. Its main task is to effectively fight the hepatitis B virus. It slows down the development of cellular structures affected by the virus and destroys them. The drug is manufactured by the company "Apraser" (India). It is an effective generic with the active ingredient Entecavir. The international name of the drug is Entekor.

Buy Entekor

You can buy Entekor in the online store of our pharmacy. The price of the drug is affordable, and since we work directly with the manufacturers, the patient always has the opportunity to buy the amount of the drug that he needs for the course of treatment.

Entekor: price

There are people who are skeptical about generics, believing that they are not as effective as the original drugs. This is not the case: pharmacological technologies are moving forward, and Indian companies are doing everything possible to ensure that effective drugs become available to most patients. The high quality and benefits of generics have been repeatedly confirmed by clinical studies and doctors' recommendations, and their cost is acceptable and democratic.

Reviews

Patients suffering from viral hepatitis B respond well to Entekor and notice an improvement in their condition after two to three weeks of regular intake of the drug. If taken correctly, in accordance with medical recommendations, the disease quickly goes into permanent remission.

Entecavir is the active active ingredient of the drug. When it enters the body, its action begins after a couple of hours. Entecavir restores cell structures affected by the virus and prevents its further multiplication.

Description of the drug Entekor
