Where to buy Dapakhet?

Dapakhet medication is produced by an Indian pharmaceutical company called Heet Healthcare. Modern doctors use this drug to treat patients who suffer from non-insulin dependent diabetes mellitus. It is easily absorbed by the organisms of everyone undergoing therapy. Thanks to the active substance from the composition of Dapakhet (dapagliflozin), the drug is responsible for the excretion of glucose by the kidneys. Purchase a medication online, and we will help you save money in the course of your treatment. All drugs that you see on our website are licensed and have passed the necessary certification. Do not self-medicate, because it can lead to negative consequences. Seek advice from your doctor who monitors your therapy.

Prices for the drug Dapakhet

Due to the fact that generics cost much less than their originals, the drug Dapakhet is preferred by most of the patients being treated. They don't spend a lot of money on advertising, which is why its price is so attractive. By its action, it is in no way inferior to the original drug, because both of them are developed on the active substance dapagliflozin, which is applicable in the therapy of people who have non-insulin-dependent diabetes mellitus and are responsible for the excretion of glucose by the kidneys. Buy an innovative generic at an inexpensive cost from us.

Active substance Dapagliflozin

Doctors use dapagliflozin to lower the concentration of glucose in the renal tubules. After the first dose of the medication, the process of excretion of glucose by the kidneys will be started, and it will not be completed all the time while the patient is being treated. The gastrointestinal tract of the treated very quickly and easily copes with the absorption of the active substance, which allows you to take dapagliflozin at any time, both before and after meals. Patients face some side reactions of the body: genital infections; back pain; constipation; hypoglycemia and others.
